Time to design and define.
Certain rules that could help your life.
Keeping safe on this place.
From human disgraces.
Let adults trace your steps.
Give respect to user on the net.
Watch for scammers capture you in there net.
In there web on the web.
All it needs to be is a chap.
In a cap. With a button.
Press and goes zap.
Your account details are hacked.
It's a minefield.
Watch for the markers to help feel.
Your way through this spam.
No not the canned kind.
More of a long line.
That underlines.
Nothing that really matters or undermines.
Anything you do at this present time.
So sit back in your seat.
Do these things you'll be fine.
Change your password daily.
Friends only for mailing.
Do these there's no failing.
It's all plain sailing.
Make sure an adult can track you.
Then they know when somebody hacked you.
Or sent images that upset you.
Which it won't because you followed these web rules.
And that's cool.
